Old Business

Molly Thomas reported virtually that has continued to work on the current Indian River Journal issue and should have it ready for review by next week. This edit will have the ADA edit for a second review by county ADA compliance personnel.

Roz Foster reported virtually that conversation is ongoing as to the direction Field Manor will take in the future. The issues of drainage on the property continue to be addressed for solutions. Additional funding for the reconstruction of the Clifton schoolhouse was recently donated. Roz continues to work on getting the answer on ownership of the salvaged buildings from the county and the extent to which the county is willing to maintain them. She believes more progress will be made after Summer when people are back from vacation and the weather is better for more work on the structures.
